NEWS VESPER PROCEEDS $21

Proceeds Go to Federated
Missionary Society

Proceeds from the free will offering taken at the seventh Sunday Vesper Musical sponsored by The Port Arthur News in the First M. E. church, Stilwell boulevard and Lake Shore Drive yesterday, amounted to $21.15, which will be turned over to the Federated Missionary society for the Mexican mission church here.

The program of vocal and instrumental music arranged for the musicals and presented by musicians of this city had Mother's Day as the theme, and music-lovers of the city declared it one of the most enjoyable musicals yet given here for the benefit of Port Arthur institutions.

Among the musicians taking part in the seventh musical were Mrs. R. L. Drake, soprano; Mrs. E. G. Rutherford, soprano; Mrs. Fred P. Dodge, mezzo soprano; Mrs. Clifford G. Hall, contralto; Mrs. Sam Simon, violinist; Miss Mary Higginbotham, who sang two Spanish songs with steel guitar accompaniment; Mrs. Thomas Sappington and Mrs. T. J. Twenty, pianists; Neal Rader, bass; Roger W. Archer, tenor, and E. H. McGuire, organist.

HARLEY'S ORCHESTRA TO PLAY HERE ON FRIDAY

Harley's orchestra of Houston will furnish the jazz-time music Friday evening at the Department club, which is open to the public, according to announcements made this morning by Homer Washburn, under whose direction the dance is being staged.

"The club," Washburn said today, "has granted the privileges of its floor conditionally and attendants at the dance are earnestly requested to refrain from making any unnecessary noise, either during the dance, or while departing from the building." The dance is the first "script" affair to be held in the Department Club since official word that it issued a mandate decreeing that no dance of that type would be held again, as an outgrowth of alleged disorderly conduct on the premises during a dance.

BLUESTEINS ON TRIP TO LAKE CHARLES

A. Bluestein, manager of the Togery Shop and Bluestein's, accompanied by his son, Leon Bluestein of Hebers store, is in Lake Charles on business.

The two business men left here Sunday, touring overland and will return here Tuesday.

COUNTRY CLUB TO ELECT TUESDAY NIGHT

The annual membership meeting of the Port Arthur Country club will be held Tuesday night at 8 o'clock, according to word from officials of the club today. A number of important matters pertaining to the club are scheduled to come up, and a full attendance of the members are urged to attend, officials said.

HE BEGAN IMPROVING RIGHT AWAY

Merritone Put Him Back in Perfect Health Within a Remarkably Short Time!

"There is a lot of satisfaction in recommending something that you really know to be good," said R. E. Emmett, in talking to a Merritone representative the other day. "That's the reason I take every opportunity to recommend your medicine to my friends. I know it is good from the wonderful benefit it brought me."

"For several years my blood had been in bad shape and it had given me a great deal of trouble. My stomach was out of order most of the time. I lost appetite and finally got so weak and had such dizzy spells that for more than a year I was afraid to go out in the streets."

"My nerves were on edge all the time. I became cross and irritable and seldom was I able to sleep more than a few hours at most during the night. I was thoroughly disconcerted with my condition when a good friend of mine insisted upon my trying Merritone. I agreed with bad grace. I must say, for I had lost faith in all medicines, and taking Merritone was to me, then, just another source of worry. I hadn't taken it a week, however, until I found that I was getting better fast. From that time on I improved so rapidly that I was delighted. Soon I was able to get about again without any fear of a dizzy spell. My nervousness disappeared and I gained strength every day."

"That was some while ago. I have taken the prescribed course of five bottles and I never felt better or stronger in all my life than I do today. I am entirely well again, thanks to Merritone."

Such statements as that of Mr. Emmett come to us every day from people delighted with the good results obtained from taking this excellent medicine, for Merritone is nature's own remedy, made wholly of the juices of vegetables, roots and herbs. It is as in nature would have it act—gently but persistently cleansing and toning up the entire digestive system, purifying and enriching the blood, correcting constipation and irregular action of the kidneys and bladder.

It is a tonic that should be in every home, especially at this time, during the spring season.

Talk to the Merritone men at the Owl Drug Store, Houston Avenue Drug Store or the American Pharmacy. They will be glad to tell you more about this excellent medicine.

Baby Day Show Attracts More Than 100 to Store

Four Most Perfect Chosen
This Afternoon in Deutser's First Annual Contest
—Hundreds See Event

Babies! Today is all the day in Port Arthur, undisputedly.

The Deutser store was packed yesterday for 100 babies from 10 until 2 o'clock, of infant America coming in to its own.

At 11 o'clock a half hundred perambulators were parked in front of the store, which gave its first annual baby show.

Babies came up in limousines and in the arms of adoring mothers. Every class was represented at the gathering.

Every color of hair and eyes could be found in the 100 entries at the baby contest. Chubby toes, pink fingers, lace caps, tiny slippers, lusty lassies of protestation at having their charms exploited, featured the array of Port Arthur's babydom.

Following is a list of the babies entered in the Deutser show, four winners to be announced this afternoon:

Georgia Mendes, 10 months; 528 Ninth; James P. Johnston, 4 months; 523 Sixth; Charlotte Huber, 4 months; Beaumont road; Howard Reed, 11 months; 1530 Houston; Dora Grey L. Vardaman, 6 months; 2416 Fourteenth; Claudia H. Morris, 6 months; 1812 Fifth; Mary E. Kirkland, 6 months; Pear Ridge; James Flanagan, 9 months; 430 Stilwell.

Jack P. Abel, 7 months; 610 DeQueen; Billie B. Calender, 3 months; 2745 Fifth; Geraldine E. Michel, 5 months; 2412 Thirteenth; Robert Earl Stewart, 2540 Thomas, eleven months.

The program committee of the Lion club is scheduled to meet some time today and complete arrangements for the annual ladies' night affair to be held at the Plaza hotel next Friday evening.

Jud. A. W. Dicus is chairman of the program committee and serving with him are Chester Huff and J. A. Paschal. That the Lionesses will be accorded the most elaborate entertainment in the history of the club is the prediction of the program committee.

The usual Red Cross baby-clinic was not held today because of baby show activities at the hospital.

The clinic will be held as usual next Wednesday, officials state.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

OUT OF THE ABUNDANCE OF THE HEART THE MOUTH SPEAKETH.—MATTHEW 12:34.

The Editorial Mind

However,
comesOdds and Ends and
Comment on Our Morning
MailTEXAS COTTON CROP HAS BIG
FUTURE IN MARKETS OF WORLD

This is the open season for politicos and the politician but never overlook cotton and its future. Texas is the banner cotton state. Texas produced 47 per cent of the American crop last year. Texas cotton brought $850,000,000 to the commonwealth last year.

Many eastern traders contend that a crop of twelve million bales will be required to meet the world's needs next season. Some claim that as much as 12,500,000 bales will be needed. A famine crop was produced last year. Europe has been a heavy buyer. According to market reports shipments abroad are almost 5,000,000 bales to date or an increase so far this season over last of $33,339 bales.

According to New York traders there is every indication that the export demand will continue and that there is reason to fear that American spinners, despite their policy of curtailment, will find it difficult to secure raw cotton in southern markets in competition with foreign buyers. Foreign spinners have taken practically as much cotton as last year.

Takings of domestic spinners for the season to date are 1,081,000 bales behind last season. American mill takings for the last week in April ran ahead of last year. Of this increase in takings northern and Canadian mills were responsible for 732,000 bales and southern mills for 314,000 bales.

Eastern traders report a rapid depletion of the certified stock, on account of liberal exports and the carry over supply promises to be very thin at the close of this cotton year in mid summer. Europe may be broke but the Europeans increased their buying nearly a million bales this season over last.

This is a striking demonstration of the ability of Europeans to come back. They are in the market for American cotton. American millers are not buying and storing cotton in their warehouses. They hope for a 12,000,000 bale crop this year and they also hope that the new crop will be rushed to the market in August and that the price will be 20 per pound or less.

Cotton placed Texas on a high plane of prosperity last year and there is no reason why the crop of 1924, if wisely marketed, should not make Texas the most prosperous of all cotton growing states.

Cheap cotton is a maker of hard times. Fair priced cotton is a maker of prosperity. It is the surplus of a crop that makes the price.

A huge cotton surplus would place the Texas farmers in the ditch, where the wheat grower of the northwest found himself when war peak land values and war peak wheat prices disappeared almost in a single night.

Politics may be a noisy or fascinating game but profit making on the part of the farmer is a more substantial game.

BOOKS OPEN TO ALL

Americans meantime were several cities experimenting. Richmond, Va., had the first "honest-to-goodness" electric trolley line, according to the American Electric Railway Association.

From then on, the old-time horse car was doomed. Today the electric railway industry carries 16 billion passengers a year and represents an investment of six billion dollars.

It seems incredible that all this has come about in 36 years. We'd like to turn the clock back and get a "kick" out of such simple amendment as a trolley line. The world changes fast in our generation and the novelty of the new quickly becomes commonplace.

In Port Arthur about 3,000 adults have attended night school at Franklin in the last six years. No one is ever too old to learn. In youth, schooling is dreaded—though not as much as formerly, due to improved methods of interesting the pupil.

In old age, men and women regret that they neglected educational opportunities in youth when knowledge is more easily acquired. Existence is an endless process of education, and life is just one class in a perpetual chain. The brain need never grow old.

It's becoming not unusual for successful men to retire and give their business to their employees who help build them up.

The latest is a cotton brokerage house. It not only gives its business to its employees, it even will back them financially the first year. The value of a brokerage house, of course, is largely intangible, not representing much material investment except for nature. Value is in reputation and organization.

Well, we're progressing. Many can recall the old-time employer who kept his "hired help" contented on the treadmill by promising to remember them in his will—and usually forgetting to.

A London court decision admits the worthlessness of 120 million dollars worth of Confederate bonds sold in England by the southern states during the Civil War. Most of us believed that any man years ago realized the worthlessness of these bonds. But the British never lost hope of recovering at least part of their investment.

Later you may read about courts admitting the utter worthlessness of Russian Rubles and German paper marks. Confederate bonds and money today are worth far more than Russian and German currency, as historical relics.

The income of the American people last year averaged about $650 apiece, according to Mechanics & Metals National Bank of New York. It estimates that 70 billion dollars was the total income of the whole nation—including wages, salaries, royalties, interest on investments, etc.

On this basis, a man and wife with two children would have had an income of $2000 during 1922, if everything were evenly divided. That's about $217 a month.

Did your family do better or lag behind the average?

TEXAS HIGHWAYS
PASSABLE, REPORT

DALLAS, May 12.—Texas highways were reported generally passable today with "slippery stretches" in the weekly survey of the local automobile club.

The Dallas to Houston highway, number two, was said to be in "fair" condition with some rough stretches near Navasota, due to recent rains.

Aransas today has more single women proportionally than in Colonial times.

Timely Tips to Port Arthur Smokers

FROM THE OIL ANTHOLOGY
By George S. Chappell

If you're walking, call me oily. For tomorrow is the merriest day. Call me oily. Mother dear, Of all the glad, new year, Of all the glad, new year, Mother, The merriest, merriest day. For I'm to be called tomorrow, Mother.

And the Lord knows what I'll say.

BROADCASTING

Charles: "Jones is the biggest fool!"
Henry: "What now?"

Charles: "He tried to float a loan to create a sinking fund."

Readers are requested to contribute. All humor, epigrams (or humorous mottoes), jokes, anecdotes, poetry, burlesques, satires, and bright sayings of children, must be original and unpublished. Accepted material will be paid for at regular rates. All manuscripts must be written on one side of the paper only, should bear name of this newspaper, and should be addressed either to the Fun Shop, or to The Port Arthur News, Fun Shop Headquarters, Port Arthur.

Politicians are requested to contribute.

It seems to be a rather generally accepted bromide that politics has nothing to do with business.

This is a mistake. Politics has everything to do with business. It is said they will not mix; but they do mix.

They might conceivably mix to out of office; business is organized to get things done, to give employment, and to increase the capital and hence the well being of the nation.

Politics is organized to get men into office; business is organized to get things done, to give employment, and to increase the capital and hence the well being of the nation.

Business is an example of what politics does to business.

Hundreds and thousands of children are starving, nations are bankrupt and money is worthless over large areas for no other reason than that politics has ruined business.

The war was nothing but politics reduced to its lowest and rottenest term.

Sooner or later business must arise and lay hold on politics or it will be ruined entirely by politics.

Business demands that the arteries of trade be unclotted. Politics is always clotting them.

Business depends upon thrift; politics, by its income tax, penalizes thrift and encourages reckless expenditures.

Business asks for sound money; politics is forever devising some scheme to tinker with the currency.

Business is occupied with building things up; politics seems to be involved with a desire to tear things down.

Business is based upon efficiency; politics upon popularity.

Business is anxious to know the law and to keep it; "Some six thousand law makers make some six thousand laws in the United States each year," says George W. Hinman, "and most of these laws are devised to put obstacles, one way or another, in the way of business."

Politics is organized to get men into office; business is organized to get things done, to give employment, and to increase the capital and hence the well being of the nation.

Instead of business keeping out of politics, it is high time that business girded up its loins and went into politics.

Mr. Hinman cites the incident of a special election for Congress in Los Angeles, in a district noteworthy for the intelligence of its people. The congressman was elected by about one-ninth of the total registered voters.

This is a typical case. The constructive, hard working business men keep away from the polls and the result is that we get the kind of congressmen that mutilated the Mellon tax plan in congress, that vote bonuses that tax capital wherever they see it, and do their best to bring the United States down to the level of Russia.

Mrs. A. E. Fontenot Hostess At Charming Bridge Party On Saturday Afternoon

CHARMING in all its appointments was the lovely bridge Saturday afternoon, which had as hostess Mrs. A. E. Fontenot at her home, 3019 Procter street. The bridge was arranged in entertainment of the Thursday Bridge Club.

Clusters of gorgeous red roses and beautiful sweet peas, gifts from Mrs. G. N. Bliss, were arranged with pretty effect at vantage points about the rooms where the tables were assembled. The red and white hues displayed in the floral decorations were reflected in the bridge table appointments.

Four tables of players enjoyed the games in which Mrs. John Stevenson received the prize for high score and Mrs. Billy Latham was awarded the no-troubling prize. Consolation fell to Mrs. Guy Hooker and Miss Beatrice Halloran was presented with the guest favor. A dainty salad course was offered at the close of the games.

The personnel of the charming affair included Mrs. Harry Holloway, Mrs. C. E. Boos, Jr., Mrs. John Stevenson, Mrs. Kyle, Elsie, Mrs. Roland Lawrence, Mrs. N. M. Barrier, Jr., Mrs. Ed. ### WALOHI CAMPFIRE ENJOYS HIKE

The girls of the Walohi Campfire met yesterday morning at the home of Mrs. George Stehl on North Fourth street at 8 o'clock and after all the girls were assembled they hiked to the Dryden home on the Beaumont road. On the way to the Dryden home Mrs. Stehl treated the girls to soda pop and gum.

After arriving at their destination breakfast was spread beneath the tall shading trees, following which the girls took a number of kodak pictures. They returned to the city about 12 o'clock.

Those participating in the hike were Lucille Breaux, Virginia Adolphus, Katherine Traveck, Isabelle Hilaire, Mabelle Billeaud, Oliver Worm, Margaret Worm, Clara Rodgers, Leona Rodgers, Ursula Landry, Rosemary Stehl, Ada Vandegriff and Mrs. George Stehl.

On Saturday afternoon the girls met with their guardian, Mrs. L. P. Daspit, at the Knights of Columbus hall and during the business session the guardian suggested that the girls present a campfire play to raise money for the summer camp. They also planned to hold a ceremonial meeting next Saturday afternoon, at which time all the girls will try for honors and several will attempt to gain the rank of wood-gatherer.

REDIVING COUNCIL TO MEET THIS EVENING

The Rediving Council Number Ten, degree of Pocahontas, will meet tonight at 7 o'clock at the K. P. hall. Important business matters will be discussed at this meeting.

MRS. FULLER'S CLASS TO HAVE PICNIC SUPPER

Mrs. N. T. Fuller's Sunday School Class of the First Methodist Episcopal church will entertain with a picnic supper at the church, Lake Shore drive and Stilwell boulevard, tomorrow evening at 6 o'clock. All members of the class and their families are invited to attend the picnic supper.

RECEPTION AT CLUB DELIGHTFUL AFFAIR

The reception at the Department Club Saturday evening, sponsored by the Musicians' Club, was a most delightful affair, with more than one hundred guests in attendance.

During the earlier part of the evening a musical program was given, following which dancing was enjoyed from 10 to 12 o'clock. Moody's seven piece "Gloom Chasers" orchestra furnished tuneful melodies for the entertainment of the guests during the entire evening.

MRS. WINONA SMITH ENTERTAINS SATURDAY

Mrs. Winona Smith graciously entertained a few friends Saturday evening at the home of her brother, Mrs. J. W. K. Smith, 1238 DeQueen boulevard. Games were enjoyed during the evening, punch and cake were served. Enjoying the occasion were Misses Lulu Mae McKnight, Nellie Mae Ambis, Linda Mae Thomas, Opal Webb, Ruth Johnson, Mabel LeBlanc, Ethna Bear, and Winona Smith; Mrs. Meares, Wilson McNulty, Miller Jolly, and Louise Calhoun; Mrs. Smith was assisted in serving by her niece, Mrs. Roberts of Gulfport, Miss.

CHURCH LADIES NAMED DAY NURSERY MATRON

Announcement was made this morning by Mrs. K. A. Young, chairman of the Day Nursery Board, that during the month of April the women's organizations of the Congregational church mended the clothes of the children at the Day Nursery twice and on both these occasions relieved the matron and allowed her an afternoon off. The women of St. George's Episcopal Guild, did similar work for the Day Nursery tots on one occasion during May.

Dress Engineer Advocates Building Wardrobe as One Builds Home

BY HORTENSE SAUNDERS
NEA Service Writer

Until beauty, not style, is our ideal in dress, we will always have a dress problem, according to Bertha Holley, dress engineer.

She believes a wardrobe should be assembled as a home is—starting with a few good pieces. Then year by year add to a permanent collection instead of discarding the major portion season after season.

"A woman's first step toward freedom in dress," she says, "is to determine her color scheme and then build her permanent wardrobe closely adhering to it, so that all hats, coats, shoes and dresses may be harmonious."

The blond will find that grays and blues with touches of warm colors, used discreetly as high spots, are her most lovely setting."

"Brown eyes call for golds and tans, and for the extreme brunet the dark tones of red and purple, and black, are best."

Miss Holley builds what she calls interchangeable wardrobes. She pins her faith to slips and over dresses. Every outfit starts with a foundation slip which is sleeveless and straight as to line. It is usually of satin or crepe.

Over this she arranges any number of opportunities that transform the same slip into an evening frock or motoring dress to suit one's needs.

"The variety is gained by the use of harmonious over-slips and under-tunics," she explains. "One may build an elaborate or simple wardrobe by this plan, and as soon as one tunic or slip has outlived its usefulness, it may be replaced by another.

Since the clothes I make are never conspicuously in style, they never go out. The underlying ideal is beauty and harmony, rather than style, and a thing of beauty should be a joy as long as it exists."

Many of her coats are reversible, plain on one side and elaborate on the other. Many of the gowns are made in rich tissues, elaborately decorated brocades or chiffons, but her lines never vary and her color sequences are never violated.

She began her career as an artist, then became an interior decorator, and finally, as she became more interested in the occupants of rooms than the rooms themselves, she developed into a dress engineer.

AUTO STOLEN HERE IS FOUND IN PT. NECHES

A Ford touring car, owned by H. H. Hendryx, of Port Arthur, which was stolen Saturday evening from in front of the post-office here, was recovered yesterday afternoon by J. T. Wiedel, superintendent of the identification department. The car was found deserted in a ditch at Port Neches and brought back to Port Arthur by Wiedel and turned over to Hendryx this morning.

Hendryx left his car at the curbing in front of the post-office when he went in to mail some letters Saturday evening. When he came out of the building he found the car gone. It was on his way to play golf and left his golf outfit in the car along with other personal belongings which had not been removed from the car when found.

No arrests have been made.

Bridge Party At Country Club Saturday

Members of the Saturday Bridge Club enjoyed a delightfully informal afternoon of bridge Saturday at the Country Club. The members motored to the clubhouse about 2:30 o'clock and after several spirited games of bridge, lovely prizes were awarded for high score. Mrs. Ted Weatherall received the first trophy for success and Mrs. David Boyce was awarded the second prize.

During the late hours of the afternoon a dairy ice course was offered and enjoyed by Mrs. Ted Weatherall, Mrs. W. H. Davis, Mrs. David Boyce, Mrs. Sam MacFadden, Mrs. Richard Allis, Miss Cattell of Jennings, Mrs. Willard Unhoff, Miss Grace Inman, Mrs. Frank C. Harrell, Mrs. Don Young, Miss Louise McWhorter, Mrs. C. W. Hurley, Jr., and Mrs. Tom Hart.

Next Saturday Mrs. W. H. Elliott will entertain the club at her home, 1302 Procter street.

Onderdonk Addresses Members of DeMolay

The second week of the revival being conducted at the First Methodist church, south, by Rev. Lem Onderdonk got underway Sunday with large crowds present at two special services, Rev. V. A. Godber, the pastor, said today.

At the Sunday morning service the presiding elder of this district, Rev. S. N. McKinney, was present and baptised a number of infants.

Rev. Onderdonk addressed a number of members of the local DeMolay post at the morning service, as did the presiding chief.

Mother's Day was appropriately observed at both morning and evening services.

BIBLE ABOVE MAN'S CREEDS

Rev. Reagan Emphasizes Need for Belief

A plea that the Bible be accepted as the only standard for religion and that all "man-made creeds and doctrines" be laid aside was made by Rev. Reagan, evangelist, at the services in the Church of Christ tabernacle, 1601 Sixth street, Sunday night.

Illustrating his point that things different cannot all be right, Rev. Reagan called for the time from six men in the congregations, and finding all the watchmen differed, he declared that it is so with creeds and doctrines not based on the Bible as the religious standard.

"We can all understand the Bible exactly alike. The Bible is our perfect standard. The points of difference in the religious work are things that the Bible said nothing about.

Since all agree the Bible is our guide and all could agree to follow it, but could not agree on any one creed written by men, then why not lay aside all creeds and doctrines of men?" Reagan said.

In judgment of God, man will not be weighed by any creed or doctrine other than those set forth in the Bible, the evangelist declared, urging the care in the handling of God's word.

Subjects announced for Rev. Reagan's sermons at the night services this week are for Monday, "The Property of Jesus and the Wealth of His Saints"; Tuesday, "Love, Courtship and Marriage"; Wednesday, "The Gospel Chasm"; Thursday, "Why I Do Not Use Instrumental Music in Worship"; and Friday, "The Gospel Railroad."

60 Additions to M. E. South Church Here

The best report of any church in this district was that submitted by the First M. E. Church, South, of this city, when the second quarterly conference was held here Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Rev. S. S. McKinney, presiding elder, told church officials today.

Additional to the church here since the last conference, two and a half months ago, numbered 60; during that time 18 infants have been baptized; the Sunday school has reached an enrollment of 925; and during the past five months, over $11,000 in cash has been raised for church building purposes, according to items set forth in the report.

Rev. McKinney also complimented the congregation on the increased activities of the Epworth Leagues, two of these young people's organizations having been formed recently, and the Women's Misionary society and various other departments of the church, officials said today. The membership is about 1,400.

I remember very well that when I was at your home you expressed a desire for a new cap, and remarked that it was almost impossible to get such an old-fashioned thing nowadays, when grandmothers wear one-piece bathing suits instead.

I told my friend, Ruth Ellington, who has a delightful lingerie shop, what you said, and it struck her funny.

She determined that you should not only have one, but two or three caps, and she has made you some lovely ones—one with black lace with flat silver roses, which will look exquisite on your soft, white hair; and one of white lace with cunning little black velvet decorations, and last, but not least, a perfectly beautiful one with white thread lace with tiny pink rose-buds.

You see, I remembered your lovely complexion—that complexion that I described to Jack, and which made him use "Keep that school-girl complexion from youth to age" in one of his advertisements. He made an awful lot of money that contract, mother dear, and you should make him pay you a commission of a beautiful lace wrap with some elegant fur. I'll see that you get them when I return.

Regards to Miss Anderson. Lovingly.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

No. 24—THE TWINS VISIT ROBINSON CRUSOE

Robinson Crusoe was sitting on the numbers discovered some grains in an old sack that I found after my ship was wrecked, and I planted them. We have quite a barley crop now."

"Friday! Friday! Man, Friday!" they heard the parrot screaming. "Come out and give these folks a goat to milk. And throw a barley loaf at them!"

"What a funny bird!" laughed the Twins. "And isn't he smart!"

"His voice is better than his manners," said Robinson Crusoe.

After that they all went to the house, half of which was hollowed out of rock like a cave and half of which was made out of old sail stretched over posts. It was completely surrounded by a high fence that Crusoe had made when he was first ship-wrecked on the island.

There was no gate, so they had to climb up a rope ladder on the outside, and then down a rope-ladder on the inside. Everything was as snug and tidy as a bird's nest.

And if they thought Robinson Crusoe's clothes were odd, I'm sure I don't know what they thought of Man Friday's for there wasn't enough of them to make remarks about.

Robinson Crusoe's dog was there and his two cats and his goat and his parrot, and altogether they had a merry party.

The wrecked sailor told them stories of his adventures for an hour, and now he expected to go home soon to London, but that he loved his Desert Island too well to leave it.

"We'll have to be going now," said Mister Muggs. "Thank you for being nice to us. Goodbye."

"Goodbye!" called Polly. "Come back when you can't stay so long."

CHILD'S STORY OF THE HUMAN RACE

By Uncle RAY

Water System of the Romans

Hundreds of pieces of pipe have been dug up from where Romans used to live, help us to know how the water system worked.

It seems to have worked very well indeed. Water was brought from the tops of mountains and high hills. It flowed to the city by means of long channels, usually built of stone and lined with cement. The channels had a roundish shape; they were very much like large pipes, in fact.

Once in the city, the water flowed through small pipes, made of metal.

A Roman bath in which the water was cold. Notice how light was let in from above.

"Say, that reminds me," exclaimed Barrie. "I saw the prettiest grosbeak this morning out in your garden eating up potato beetles. Did you see him?"

"No, I don't think so," Billy returned. "I wouldn't have seen a grosbeak if I saw one or a potato beetle either."

"Then you ought to take a bird hike with me," was Barrie's suggestion. "I'm going out some day soon to study the thrush family. The robins and bluebirds and mocking birds belong to it."

Barrie has brown hair, brown eyes, brown trousers and freckles. He'll teach you a lot about birds before the week is over.

WIFE ANGRY AT MATE, CHOKES HIM TO DEATH

PARIS, May 11.—Berthe Bleedhoff, a pretty Dutch blonde, smashed all conventions adhered to by orthodox Parisian matrimonial murderers by strangling her husband to death with her bare hands.

A fight started when the husband broke the wife's prettiest dinner plate. The husband retired, under a barrage of wifely insults, to the nearest bar, where he attempted to drown his sorrows. When he returned home staggering under the burden of white wine, his wife sprang at his throat and proceeded to throttle him to death.

500 MOB PRO SQUAD IN RAID

Postoffice Is Swamped With Mother's Day Mail

CHICAGO, May 12.—A crowd of 500 men and women of Thornton, Ill., a suburb of here, mobbed 20 federal fed agents here in an effort to prevent the destruction of liquor seized in a raid on a roadside. The agents, using their guns as clubs, beat the crowd back and then while half of the little force stood guard with drawn revolvers, the others poured a large quantity of whisky, wine and beer into the street.

Many of the residents of Thornton were employed in the C. F. Bierbaum Brewing company which was raided by agents sometime ago. Several days ago 2,000 barrels were taken from the brewery and destroyed. Answered when the roadside of Joseph Straus was raided this afternoon the crowd attacked the agents in an effort to seize the confiscated liquor. Marshal C. Ridgeway, leader of the dry agents, had planned to remove the liquor to Chicago but when the crowd made its attack he ordered its immediate departure.

Pt. Arthur's Industrial Story Told Travelers

A specially printed placard on which is shown the outstanding features of Port Arthur and territory has just been received by J. J. Scott of the Central hotel who is having it framed to be placed conspicuously on the basis of the experts report.

The placard was designed by C. H. Debusk of the Chamber of Commerce staff. It is believed the design will attract the attention of the traveling public to the many outstanding features connected with this city. A review of schools, churches, manufacturing output, shipping facts, and other local assets is given on the placard.
